Wakefield-based Keurig Inc. is a legit powerhouse when it comes to manufacturing single-cup coffee makers.

This holiday season, Keurig unveils the B60 Special Edition Gourmet Single Cup Brewing System a brewer that could possibly be the finest product in its class.

By using Keurig's patented K-Cup portion packs, the daily hassle of dealing with coffee filters, messy grinds and wasted pots of java are over. The B60 brews one cup of coffee at a time. In under 60 seconds, you can have a fresh cup of coffee or tea ready lickety-split. For anybody on the go, the B60 is a necessity for everyday living.

Getting the B60 to work couldn't be easier. Just fill up the removal 48-ounce water reservoir, select a K-Cup of choice, place it in the brewer. Then close the lid, push a button indicating brew size (6, 8, or 10 ounces) and before you know it, you'll be enjoying a fresh cup of coffee or tea.

The B-60 comes built with chrome accents and a blue back-lit LCD display that will add class and style to any kitchen. The B60 also includes a digital clock and a timer. Keurig also throws in a complimentary 18 K-Cup variety pack of coffees and teas.

By far the greatest thing about using the B-60 is the ability to switch from the different brew sizes. And don't worry coffee connoisseurs, the B60 delivers a flavorful cup of coffee every time, no matter what brew size you select.

While the suggested retail price of the B60 may seem a bit steep, the speed and convenience is well worth it. The B60's travel mug setting (10 ounces) delivers freshness and robust coffee flavor.

Imagine not having to waste time stopping for coffee in the morning.

Owning the B60 is like having a coffeehouse right in your kitchen.

Don't confuse Keurig's patented K-Cups with pod brewers. Single cup pods are packed in bulk and when opened expose the pods to oxygen and that's a no-no in terms of freshness. Let enough oxygen in and you're coffee or tea is going to become stale right quick.

Keurig's K-Cup technology is the true magic behind the single cup brewing system. Each K-Cup contains its own filter to preserve flavor integrity and to keep out oxygen, moisture and light. K-Cups also have a nine-month shelf life.

Keurig coffee partners are also world class. For instance, you can't go wrong with Green Mountain Coffee Roasters Colombian Supremo Coffee. It packs a bold taste, perfect for the first cup of the day or that midday cup. Colombian Supremo is also extremely smooth tasting.
